

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Borrowed Fire LLC

Borrowed Fire is my founder-led app company for focused software built around specific everyday friction. The name comes from the fire Prometheus stole from the gods, but the point is practical: software that gives people back time, clarity, focus, and agency.

DETAILS

Company facts

COMPANY

Borrowed Fire LLC

FOUNDER

Dalvis Perez

COMPANY TYPE

Founder-led app company

WEBSITE

borrowedfire.com

MEDIA KIT

borrowedfire.com/media-kit

CONTACT

admin@borrowedfire.com

PRODUCTS

Current public product lineup

Fated Pages: Romantasy Recs

Private romantasy discovery shaped by reading taste and trope preferences.

Jurni: Trip Planner

Trip planning for itineraries, expenses, documents, and solo or shared decisions.

NextCatch: Raids & Events

Pokémon GO raid rooms and event windows without the tab overload.

POSTURE

Core tenets

Focused tools

Each product is built around a specific job instead of a broad platform promise.

Domain fluency

Products are built close to the real language, rituals, and decisions of each domain: books, trips, raids, and operational readiness.

Privacy by conviction

The company is not built around selling user data or using ad tracking.

APPROVED COPY

Company boilerplate

I use Borrowed Fire to build and publish focused apps for specific everyday friction. Current products include Fated Pages for private romantasy discovery, Jurni for trip planning, and NextCatch for Pokémon GO raids and events. I keep the company intentionally small: one accountable builder, real shipped products, a bias toward practical tools over platform promises, and no business model built on selling user data.